Art Direction

Art Direction

If we would like to represent, different functionalities of app, or the feature, and we would like to do it with photo usage, we have to consider the rule, that the UI Representation can be done by prioritizing the black and white components on top.

Photo Usage

Art Direction

Illustrations can be used as a background layer, of the page, poster or any other object which represents the background of the content.

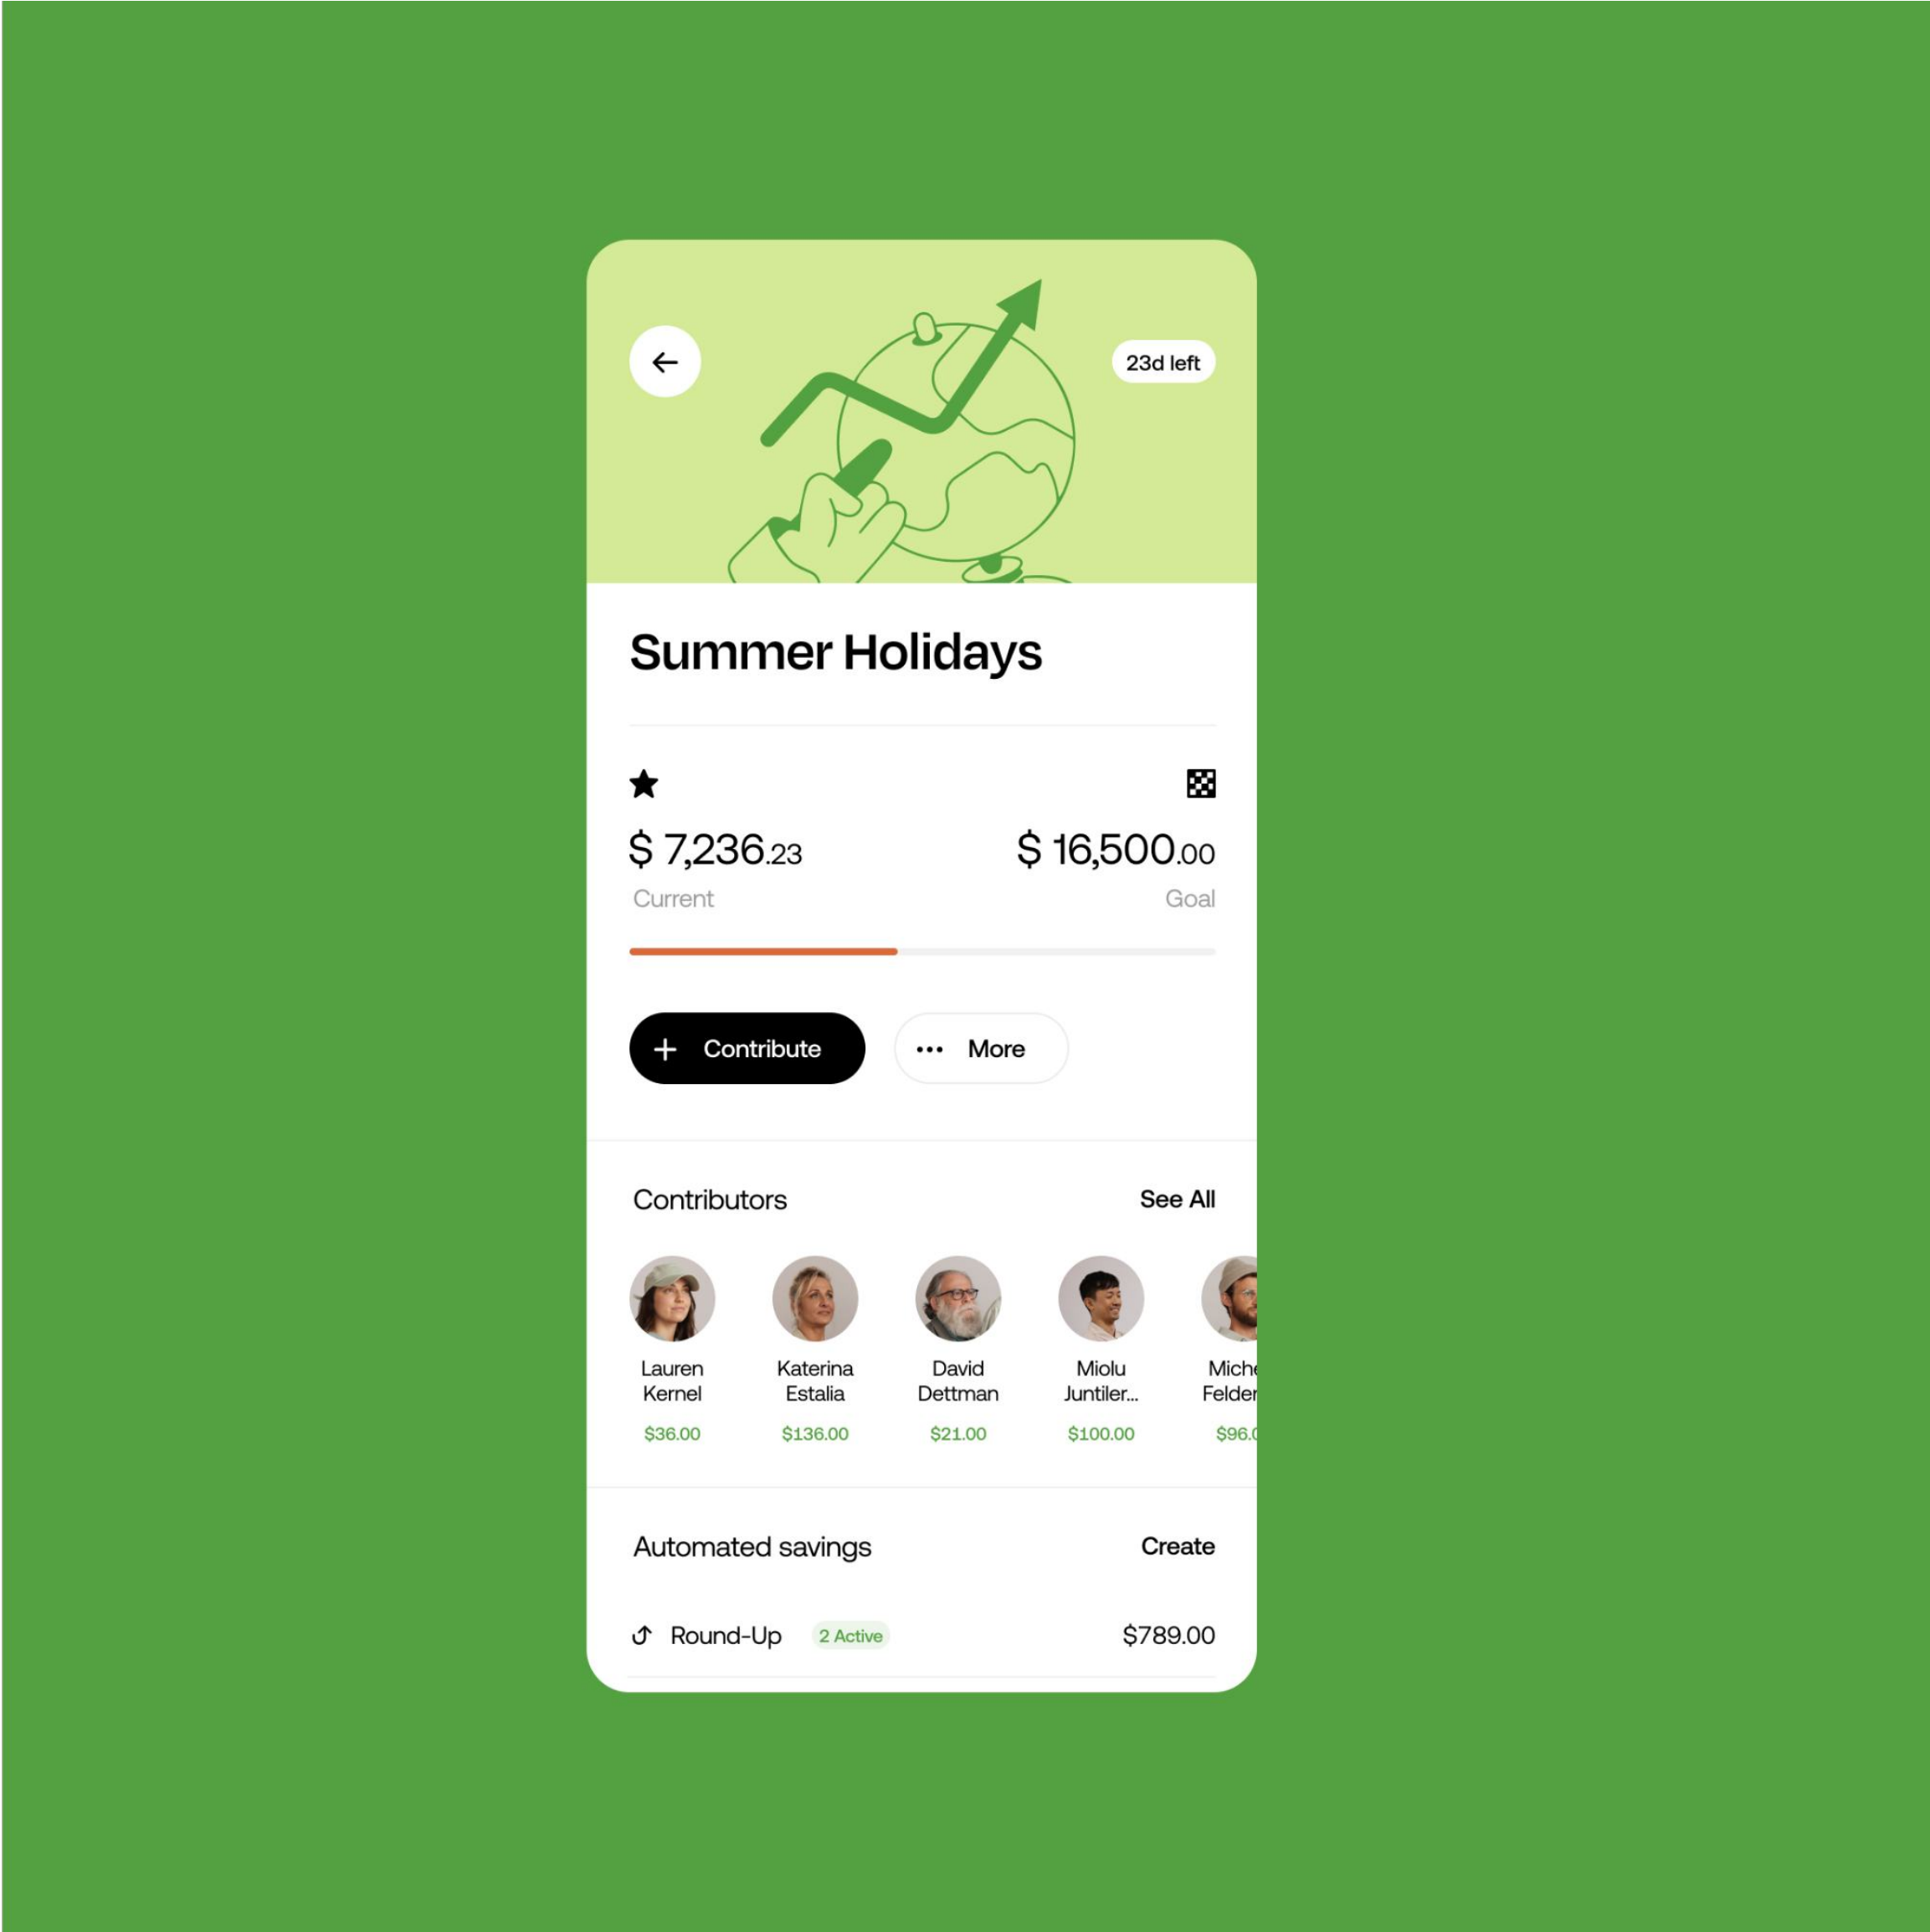

Colors should always represent the product vertical, we are showing with illustrations.

Illustrations should be filled with two brand colors only, dark and light, to easily combine with other assets, in different parts of design.

Interface

Interface

When it comes to interface, we've decided to find the golden center between, being modern and serious. As a result, we've covered most of the interface parts with black and white UI, which gives us a sense of being bold and serious, and by implementing vertical colors and illustrations we are introducing more joy and fun through the product.
